Portland's tribute to the world's great benefactor was a grand and noble one. The exercises at the New Market were a grand and noble one. The exercises at the New Market were a grand and noble one.

At Beth Israel synagogue.

The div's celebration was opened by sacrifices at the Beth Israel synagogue, corner Fifth and Oak, under the joint management of Rev. Dr. J. K. Heller and Mr. J. Kaiser. The synagogue was handsomely decorated for the occasion. On the pulpit wall the figures 5046 and 6645, representing the Jewish year of the present and next century corresponding to our date of 1784 and 1944. The walls were festooned striped and otherwise decorated with American flags, leaves and flowers. Bare plants graced the altar. A lamp which had been placed on the altar, and which had previously been randomly draped with the English or American flag, and altogether the decor-

At a few minutes before 10, at which time the synagogue was already crowded, the children to the number of 100 marched in single file on the carpeted floor of the sanctuary to the platform. The little girls were all dressed in white and all wore ribbons, the boys wearing blue and white American colors and bearing shields and banners. The singing of the hymns was beautiful appearance. The services were commenced by a grand prelude on the organ by Professor E. J. Kuntz, who then read the opening prayer, heartily rendered by the choir consisting of Mrs. Manriet, soprano; Mrs. Kurows, alto; Mrs. Casselberg, tenor; Mr. Steinberg, bass; and leader, Mr. Kuntz. The prayer was followed by the following thanks for the blessings of such a life as the 10th year centennial birthday was being celebrated. The children then sang a hymn in which the words were sung in a four-part harmony and the hymn was rendered sweetly and made very effective music. The psalm Hail was then chanted by Rev. I.

tenor voice of rare excellence. His organ was a retort to the assembled congregation. The gentleman is a thoroughly accomplished musician, and his playing was a deserved recognition of his musical ability. Then followed reading the eleventh chapter of Isaiah by Dr. Block, following which was a hymn by the choir. At the close of which the Rev. Dr. Block delivered an able sermon, which will be published to-morrow.

After the sermon, the following program was pronounced and then followed the distribution of bon-bons and souvenirs of the occasion. The program was given by the organists, I heard her using the music by the children, and appropriate quotations from the scriptures. The souvenirs bear the date of the English year, 1900, and the year of the Union, and they are inscribed as presented in the Monumental committee of Portland, Ore.

After the program, the Rev. Dr. Block will long serve as a comfort to the good Christians.

At the New Market Theater

Promptly at 8 o'clock in the evening the expectant Mr. New Market Theater, Long before this hour, the auditorium was packed in every part, and large numbers standing filled the lobby at the sides and rear. Hundreds were turned away unable to gain admission. While the audience was made up largely of Catholics, Protestants, and Presbyterians, the Englishmen, French, and every church in the city, were present. A lack of the stage was aptly depicted with American and English flags displayed, while the proscenium boxes above the stage were decorated with flowers and tropical plants. Seated from the center of the proscenium were the members of the board of the centennarian philanthropist and under them the "Thank you I Thank"

STATE OF OREGON PERMITTE OFFER

SALMON, OCT. 20 1981

"Dear Sir: It would be a source of great pleasure to me to have you and your family attend the celebration of the one hundredth birthday of the great philanthropist, Sir Moses Montefiore, whose many noble acts made him famous and enviable by all ages and nations. I am sure that his life and work will do for him the adulation of the world long before the majority of the present generation of men can do so. I hope that you will find it a mutually fitting act if we should say, "I wish to"

his one hundredth anniversary, as it has been celebrated for 150 years to reach this centennial in weeks of benediction and jubilation.

Please accept my thanks for your invitation,
 and express my regards to your association that its members are such as to cause me to deny
 for me the privilege of accepting the same.

I remain your obedient servant.

—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your invitation to the celebration of the centennial of the one-hundredth birthday of SAMUEL JOHNSON.

In connection with the civilized world I desire to express my sincere admiration of the distinguished philanthropist whose venerable age has witnessed his long career of charitable deeds, with his life a sacrifice to the cause of humanity, and testified by those who are not his countrymen.

The exercise was presided over by the Hon. Mr. Justice Gauthier, who presided over the exercise with Mr. Simon Harris as counsel. The exercise was presided over by the Hon. (Col. John McCracken made a brief address on behalf of the Masonic fraternity, and closed with a very fine recitation of "Abou Ben Adhem," which seemed to fit the subject well.)
